Training Program for Paramedics Care Services Inaugurated at ICFAI University (Program to facilitate entry-level jobs in health care conducted in association with BOSCH)

A three-month long Paramedics Training Program for imparting entry level skills in healthcare to rural youth was inaugurated at ICFAI University, Jharkhand today. The program is organized by the University in association with BOSCH India Foundation. Mr. Manish Kumar, Senior Officer, BOSCH India Foundation, Jharkhand Zone, Ms. Soni and Ms. Shalini from Shree Sai Nursing Training School, Ranchi were the Guests of honour on this occasion. A huge number of students, aspiring for entry level healthcare services, from villages around Daladali participated in the program. During the program, all the participants were distributed healthcare training kits.

Welcoming the participants, Prof O R S Rao, Vice Chancellor of the University said, "In the current times, due to nuclear families, wherein both spouses are working, there is hardly anyone at home, to take care of after ailing children, old parents/ in-laws. While demand for paramedics healthcare services like professional Care Givers, there is lack of trained workforce. In view of this, the ICFAI University, in association with BOSCH India Foundation, started the program to train the rural youth as professional Care Givers. This program aims to impart entry level healthcare skills, in association with a Nursing College, besides soft skills." "This is yet another initiative of the ICFAI University for Social Outreach Services. We are happy that twenty five youngsters, in the age group of 18-25 years from villages, surrounding our campus, joined the program. Most of them are girls and school drop-outs and badly need a job. Besides providing livelihood to the rural youth, this program helps to meet the paramedical needs of the needy sections of the society, thereby giving a lot of satisfaction."

Prof. Arvind Kumar, Registrar, highlighted how the program will help in holistic development of the needy youth by way of up-skilling them so that they can build a career in the fast growing healthcare sector. Mr. Manish Kumar advised the participants to take advantage of the Care Giver program and build their careers. Dr. Gautam Tanty, Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Program explained the road map of the training program and the three phases of training to be covered, which includes one month of on-the-job training.

The participants expressed happiness that they will be getting an opportunity to build a rewarding career.

Dr. Bijoya Ganguly, Assistant Professor coordinated the program, with active support from Dr. Sudipta Majumdar and Dr. Subrato Kumar Dey, both Associate Professors of the University. Dr. Pallavi Kumari, Associate Professor proposed a vote of thanks.
