

It gives us immense pleasure to present the June 2025 issue of e-Palaash, the official e-newsletter of ICFAI University Jharkhand. In this edition, we've curated an inspiring mix of industry collaborations, academic achievements, cultural celebrations, workshops, webinars, and more—highlighting how our institution continues to engage meaningfully with industry, society, the economy, and uphold values and ethics

As the monsoon sets in and cool breezes signal change, we invite our cherished readers to enjoy a trailer of what's yet to come in the next year. We truly understand how deeply our readers cherish each edition, and we're thrilled to deliver another selection of vibrant contributions from our faculty and students—unfolding a compelling platform for innovation, creativity, and academic discourse .

We remain committed to high-quality education and fostering creativity grounded in ethical principles. Our students' achievements in sports, speech competitions, cultural showcases, and extracurricular activities reflect a broad spectrum of talent and enterprise. We also extend heartfelt appreciation to our PhD scholars, whose research vigour and scholastic pursuits enhance our academic atmosphere and uplift our community.

At ICFAI, we recognize that while there's no single formula for success, effort, innovation, and fresh ideas lead the way forward. With our unique blend of knowledge cultivation and real-world enterprise, we remain confident in ICFAI's place under the pedagogic sun. We congratulate every contributor—faculty, scholars, and students—for enriching e-Palaash and helping us bloom further in the academic landscape.

Happy Reading!

— Editor-in-Chief, e-Palaash

Dr. Pallavi Kumari
Associate Professor