ICFAI University Jharkhand Applauds Student Volunteers for Their Outstanding Contribution to Convocation 2024

In a heartening gesture of appreciation, ICFAI University Jharkhand congratulated and recognized its students for their exceptional contribution as volunteers during the Convocation 2024 ceremony.

The event, which marked a proud moment in the university's academic calendar, was made even more memorable by the dedication, energy, and behind-the-scenes efforts of the student volunteers. Their involvement played a crucial role in ensuring the smooth conduct of the convocation — from hospitality and logistics to stage management and guest coordination.

The university administration acknowledged the selfless service and team spirit demonstrated by the volunteers. Special commendations were given to students who went above and beyond in their responsibilities, setting an inspiring example for their peers.

"Volunteering for an event of this scale demands discipline, collaboration, and commitment — qualities that our students displayed with great pride," said a university spokesperson.
